Get Out Of Town Hoss Hammond... You're Through

Along The Emigrant Trail

Showdown in the Mountain Lion saloon Friday night is a virtual certainty as ex-wagonmasters of the Jackass Mail attempt to bring confusion out of chaotic chaos created by the arbitrary and dictatorial commandments of the 1971, and self-proclaimed permanent wagonmaster, one Hoss Hammond.

In a statement Xed by the vast majority of the stalwart, enlightened and fearless former leaders of that historic cavalcade of the golden west, namely and to wit, the Jackass Mail, Hammond was advised to get out of town, if he can find his way, and stay out.

Hammond, believed to be holed up in a dark room someplace in the vicinity of Porter's Town, sent word to all

HODGSON HEADS FAIR BOARD; JAYCEES TO SELL EXHIBIT SPACE; '71 OPERATION WAS IN THE BLACK

PORTERVILLE — Directors started gearing up for Porterville's 25th annual fair next May at a meeting Monday night in the Southern California Gas Company office, reelecting A.K. Relected with Hodgson were: Bill Rodgers, vice chairman; Mel Carter, treasurer; and Bob Board, secretary. Relected to the fair board were eight directors whose terms expired this year: Carter, Board, Guido Lombardi, Bob Bennett, Chet Gilbert, Bob Dusek, Dan Mahnke and George Carter.

Jim Gentry, president of the Jaycees, said that his committee workers are ready to go and will launch a sales campaign on both exhibit space and program advertising by the middle of February.

Editorial Comment

THE CHOICE IS OURS... OUR CHOICE IS "YES"

We voters in the Porterville Elementary School District have a choice next Tuesday, February 8.

We can say "Yes" or we can say "No" on a proposed $1,525,000 bond issue, the money from which would be used to upgrade school buildings through renovation and new construction, and to provide needed instructional equipment.

Classrooms on all nine elementary school campuses would be modernized at a total cost of $923,000; new buildings would be constructed on the Pioneer and Bartlett campuses at a total cost of $572,000 to replace buildings that must be replaced, or abandoned, by no later than July 1, 1975 under provisions of California's Field act (earthquake safety law); and $30,000 would be spent on instructional equipment.

We believe these proposed expenditures are sound and necessary.

But all of us have the "yes" or "no" choice.

If we people of the Porterville Elementary School district choose to vote down the bond issue, no one is threatening to close the schools, or force double sessions, or curtail the basic school program. In fact no one is threatening anything.

But there are some facts of school life involved.

If the bonds are not passed, the boys and girls in Porterville Elementary schools will continue to get just a little less in the way of educational opportunity than we good people of Porterville should be giving them.

If we vote "yes" on the bonds, then modernization and new construction will get underway without delay and should be completed in about two years. This modernization and construction means better classrooms, and other school facilities, for boys and girls, which means a better atmosphere for education, which means a better opportunity for our elementary students.

And with air conditioning of classrooms, which is included in the modernization program, a necessary door is opened for development of a year-around school schedule.

Nowhere in the modernization and construction program that would be financed through the proposed bond issue is anyone talking about frills, elaborate innovations, more pay for teachers, or new and questionable programs. Nowhere, no way.

This bond issue was proposed by a 43-member citizen's committee that spent more than two years working with elected school board members in studying needs and problems, and solutions for problems that develop in the natural and inevitable course of events as the community expands, as years go by, and as times change.

We know that when we borrow money through bonds, we have to pay that money back - over a period of 18 years in this case. And we know that the money to pay back bonds comes from taxes.

And make no mistake about this - We hate to pay taxes.

But we're not going to take it out on the kids.

Our choice is a "yes" vote on the Porterville Elementary School District bonds next Tuesday.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

QUITE OFTEN, when a "landmark" court decision pops up, words flow like water from the various news media before the think faucet is turned on.

THIS WAS the situation when the California State Supreme Court recently said in the Serrano vs Priest case that it is unconstitutional to finance public schools in California under the present system that leans heavily on the property tax.

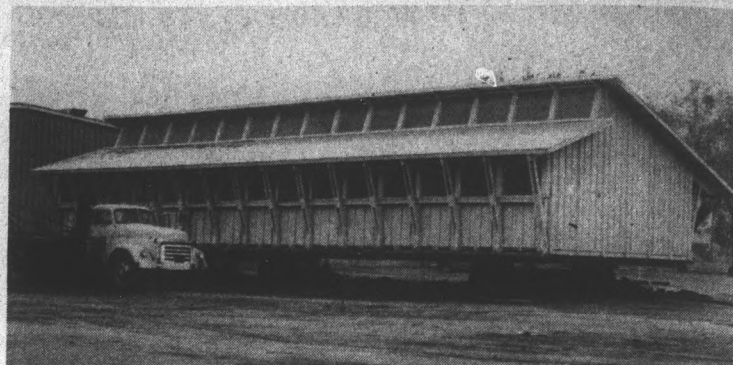

BY THE time we folks who are lovingly known as "the press" got through, many of our readers and listeners were convinced that the court had said it is unconstitutional to finance schools by property tax, and folks who pay property taxes, which in this community are somewhat more than many, said, "Great. Now we get a break on our property taxes."

BUT THE court did not say that it is unconstitutional to finance schools with property tax money, and most certainly the levying of property taxes for public education has not been declared unconstitutional.

WHAT THE court did say, in effect, was this: There must be equality of education for all students in all districts and this involves equality in tax payments in all districts. Since some school districts have high assessed valuation and some districts have low assessed valuation, some districts can afford to spend more money than other districts, which results in more education in some districts and less in others, which sets up an inequality in educational opportunities for students. This unequal opportunity for students was declared unconstitutional.

AND SINCE a district with a high assessed valuation can levy a lower tax rate than a district with a small assessed valuation and still raise the same amount, or a larger amount of money, people in the rich and poor districts are unequal tax-wise. This inequality isn't constitutional either, said the court.

SO NOW, it appears that our hard-working (?) and well-paid representatives in Sacramento will have to come up with a plan

SUPERIOR COURT DECISION PRECLUDES FURTHER SJ VALLEY WATER DIVERSIONS

MADERA - A recent ruling by Superior Court Justice William Gallagher in Sacramento gives encouragement to San Joaquin valley users of water from state and federal projects, according to Lyle W. Martin of Kingsburg, president of the Central Valley East Side Project association.

Speaking in Madera last week at a meeting of the association board of directors, Martin stated that Gallagher's decision to withhold indefinitely added diversions into the Delta - as ordered by the state water resources control board - means there is a real question as to the that assures the same amount of money per student for a basic program in every California school district, and assures that folks paying the bill will pay equally.

AND WOULDN'T you know it. Most proposed plans being kicked around now lean heavily on a state-wide property tax to bring in money that would of course be paid by folks in school districts to raise education funds that would be kicked back to the school districts on an equalized basis - a sort of throw-it-all-in-a-big-pot idea, then everyone take out the same-size handful.

AND ALL this involves the school program only. There is really no reason to believe that we won't be paying property taxes in school districts for many years to come to finance our own district school buildings.

SO, IT'S unconstitutional to finance public education through a property tax levy? Don't you ever believe it.

board's authority to arbitrarily order a diversion of CVP water already committed to the valley.

Martin added he is hopeful the new ruling will encourage the federal Bureau of Reclamation to enter the case on behalf of CVP users.

Gallagher's action came in response to a request for an injunction filed by the East Side association, Friant Water Users association, Westlands Water district and the County of Tulare. State water contractors in the valley had taken similar action.

W.A. Alexander, Porterville water engineer, described current efforts to cooperate in construction of the proposed Cross-Valley canal in Kern county. He said this facility could make it possible to transport water from the Delta into Kern county for exchange to permit upstream diversion from Friant-Kern canal.

In other action, association directors voted opposition to proposed project evaluation standards of the national Water Resources Council. The resolution states the proposed standards would make it difficult if not impossible to show feasibility for Western projects.

Chief point of opposition centers on use of a 7 percent discount factor in determining feasibility, as against the current 5 3/8 percent factor.

Martin said all indications are the Office of Management and Budget of the Nixon administration is trying to stop all water development, particularly in the West.

Water Resources Engineer Rates Area Underground Water "Good To Excellent"

VISALIA — Members of Friant Water Users association were assured at a meeting last week in Visalia that the quality of most underground water in the area ranges from excellent to good, with more in the excellent category.

Vic McIntyre, chief of water quality studies for the California Department of Water Resources in Fresno, addressed a board meeting of the Friant users in Visalia. He said a new study just completed by the department updates previous information gathered in 1962.

McIntyre explained that testing was done in cooperation with various irrigation districts within the Friant Water Users organization, using a system of electrical conductivity, considered to be a more accurate method of measuring water quality than other techniques available.

McIntyre said some problem spots were found, and that the department plans to look into the reasons for these as funding permits. Most are located at the western edge of the area involved, which extends from Chowchilla in the north to Arvin-Edison in the south.

We noticed an article recently in which a subscriber stated that to plant a tree in Los Angeles is really an act of pollution. His reasoning was that the trees required water to be imported thus changing the natural environment which consisted of sage brush and cactus. This leads to another reflection that while Los Angeles is condemned for the molesting of Owens Valley, it is really the Los Angeles area which was done in. Basis for this is that as a result of Los Angeles greed the Owens Valley has remained free of smog and is a lot better place to live than Los Angeles.

Be that as it may we're lucky to live in Porterville where the fog will soon be replaced by months of sunshine and gardening goes on almost all year. Real earth gardeners will start planting many vegetable and flower seeds now. Others will buy started plants in flats or maybe in four inch pots. Many will purchase bare root stock.

In celebration of these beautiful days to come we are joining in with dollar days to bring you some outstanding buys. Specials on gladiolus bulbs, roses, shade trees, fertilizers, English primrose, azaleas, sprayers, pebble bark, and bamboo fence. Maybe the best of all is one dollar off the price of all five gallon container plants. This should give you an opportunity to pick up a nice, high quality, shrub or tree at a low price. We urge you to come by and have a look - Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week.

EUREKA - A proposal under which California deer hunters would be limited to two rather than three deer will be considered by the California Fish and Game commission Friday, February 11 at a meeting in Eureka.

The change, affecting special deer hunts also, would become effective with the 1972 season. Under the present tag system, a hunter may use the A and B portions of the tag to take two deer in two-deer areas, and may take a third deer if he is drawn for a special hunt permit.

OPPORTUNITIES LISTED FOR CAREER IN NAVY

PORTERVILLE — Young men who have graduated or will soon graduate from high school, or who possess a G.E.D. equivalency and can meet the qualifications can now be guaranteed a seat in a Navy school within one of 14 occupational specialty categories.

These categories include 50 specific job ratings ranging from ocean systems technician to machinery repairman.

These school seat guarantees are made as part of the enlistment contract and are binding provided eligibility is established and maintained through recruit training.

Depending on the specialty category chosen, these Navy schools provide training involving anywhere from two months to a year or more. Recruits now get a starting pay of 288.00 per month at the lowest pay grade.

The Navy is also authorized to enlist specially qualified men into some programs at a pay level of $333.60 per month. In most cases a man who graduates from school as E-4 (petty officer third class) receives $346.80 per month.

Interested young men should contact Engineman First Class Joe O'Donnell at the Navy recruiting station, 65 West Putnam Ave., Porterville.

California ranked sixth in the U.S. in apple crop production for 1971.

Your job.

It's one reason we need additional power plants.

Can you picture what would happen to employment in this area if we ran short of electricity?

Nearly everything would stop. Including production lines.

That could seriously affect the welfare of you and your family.

Today there's enough electricity to go around.

But as the population continues to grow, industry will need additional electricity for new jobs.

To meet this growing need, Edison must be permitted to build additional power plants now.

And the transmission lines to deliver that power.

Nuclear power plants are one of the ways to provide additional electricity. Nuclear power plants are clean, proven and smog-free.

Other ways to generate electricity are under intensive research or being developed now. Meanwhile, existing methods are steadily being improved.

Electricity and jobs. The two go together.

FIRST POLITICAL shot of the 1972 year was fired Monday noon in Tulare county when Assemblyman Gordon Duffy was honored at a $50-per-plate lunch in the Visalia Elks Lodge dining room, with more than 400 tickets sold, but with heavy fog in the Visalia area (the sun was shining in Porterville) cutting down attendance and preventing a planeload of Sacramento dignitaries from attending when they could not get into the Visalia airport. But it was a good show anyway, what with the "Antique Agonizers" providing Dixieland music and with Duffy filling in as both honored guest and

Hoffman, representing the California Nurses association, also a special plaque from Frank Ely, president of the California State Horsemen's association, in appreciation for legislation that Duffy carried. Fogged out were: Father Leo McAllister, chaplain of the State Assembly; John Stull, 80th district assemblyman;

State Senator Howard Way; and the man scheduled to give the keynote address, Houston I. Flournoy, state controller. Attending as members of Duffy's Student Legislative Advisory committee were Sam Arnold, of Monache high, and Cindy Dunn, of Porterville high. (Farm Tribune photos)

Farm Equipment

Among the hundreds of new and prototype farm equipment on display will be: a University of California-developed mechanical olive picker, utilizing the shaker-catch frame principle; a bulk load tomato inspector developed by University of California, Davis Agricultural Engineer Michael O'Brien; a mechanical boysenberry picker, developed by UC Davis Engineer Paul Chen, which instantly freezes the highly perishable fruit as it is picked; and automated raisin grape laying and pick-up equipment.

Free educational programs and exhibits will be offered from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily by the University of Agricultural Extension and the Department of Agricultural Engineering, Davis.

Besides display and operation of two of the first internal gasoline farm engines manufactured in the United States, UC officials will be showing experimental lettuce harvesters, raisin harvesting equipment, narrow-row cotton harvesters, and fruit grading, packing and sorting equipment. In total, the fair's Agri Action

'72 displays will take up over 25 acres of ground.

UC experts will be presenting a series of programs on farming and mechanization problems in the fair ground Men's building, and homemaking, nutrition, and clothing programs at the Women's building. Both buildings are located at the main entrance gates.

No admission charge will be made, either at the entrance gates or agricultural shows and programs. Fair officials state that there will be ample parking space across the street from the fair grounds.

Springville Businessmen Begin Series Of Discussions On Ghost Town Theme

SPRINGVILLE — A number of Springville property owners last Thursday evening met in Springville Memorial building to discuss the feasibility of coordinating a Western-style storefront theme for the community, with widening and improvement of Highway 190 through Springville in July, 1972.

Although the number of persons in attendance was somewhat less than expected, Chamber of Commerce President Dick Coon stated that property owners already in favor of the general concept are far from being discouraged.

"This meeting was only meant to be the first in a series of meetings to get a general community feeling for the project, and to present ideas for various store fronts to interested property owners," said Coon.

Springville businessman Ted Schorr, a former architectural designer, stated that he will assist in development of a Western style motif for any businessman interested in the project.

In keeping with most early-West frontier towns, Schorr suggested that businessmen be thinking in terms of high false wooden fronts, hitching posts, wood boardwalks, and similar individual touches to each store which will help to create an Old West atmosphere.

"Many people have stated that Springville is rapidly becoming a ghost town," said Schorr. "If this is true, why not capitalize on it?"

"People from the large metropolitan areas who come to this area for vacation expect to see something different," he said, "and a ghost or western town right on Highway 190 will at least slow them down if not stop them as they drive through town.

"As it is we have little to offer in the way of tourist attractions," Schorr added.

Other ideas suggested by businessmen in attendance included expansion of Springville's parking facilities and creation of an Old West museum.

Coon stated that future block meetings will be announced at a later date.

LIVESTOCK HEAD-DAY TAX DUE FEB. 14

VISALIA — Jack L. Depew, Tulare county tax collector-treasurer, reminds livestock owners of the deadline for payment of the livestock head-day tax for the period from July 1, 1971, to December 31, 1971.

A livestock report must be submitted, said Depew, together with the tax payment by February 14, at the office of the Tulare County Tax collector in Visalia or postmarked not later than February 14 to avoid a 16 percent penalty. The law applies to individuals who own livestock - beef cattle and sheep - regardless of the number held, as well as to commercial livestock operators.

Forms for the report have been mailed to livestock owners of record, by the county assessor. Persons requiring additional forms should contact the county assessor.

Questions concerning the livestock report, should be referred to the tax collector's office, Room 104-E, county courthouse.

DUFFY WILL CLARIFY PROPOSED NURSE LEGISLATION

VISALIA — "There has been some erroneous information published recently stating that proposed legislation would strip the hospital trained nurse of her professional status. This is not true," Assemblyman Gordon Duffy stated recently.

Duffy said the measure is presently under study by the Assembly Health committee, of which he is a member, and that it should in fact increase job opportunities and stability for the three-year nurse. Duffy said he will meet Friday, February 25 in Visalia with Tulare and Kings county's registered nurses to discuss the proposed legislation.

ICE DAMAGE TO NAVELS IS MINIMAL

VISALIA — Navel oranges being picked in Tulare county are generally of good quality; with some fruit being graded out because of ice marks, according to County Agricultural Commissioner Elvin Mankins.

Mankins stated that navel harvest activity is gaining momentum rapidly now that year-end holidays are behind. In other crop news: planting of small grains continues, with good color showing in fields that are already up; all cotton fields are reported in compliance with pink bollworm control regulations; and supplemental feeding in rangelands continues due to cold weather.

Deciduous orchard and vineyard pruning continues, and growers are spraying tree fruit orchards for pests. Cultivation is also underway in orchards and vineyards in the lighter soil areas.

PREVIOUS SUPPLEMENTAL WATER NEED FORECASTS ARE "OUT THE WINDOW" ACCORDING TO SORENSEN

VISALIA — Worsening water overdrafts in portions of the east and west sides of the San Joaquin valley mean that all old forecasts of supplemental water needs are "out the window," according to James F. Sorensen, Visalia consulting engineer, in addressing a meeting last week of the California Reclamation board in Visalia.

"A growing population and more intensive land use means that the projections of a generation ago no longer apply,"

Sorensen stated. Sorensen serves as secretary both of Friant Water Users association and Central Valley East Side Project association.

"Within five miles of Tulare, surface land levels have subsided by three feet in recent years, and we have seen a similar drop at the edge of Hanford, said Sorensen.

"In southeastern Tulare county the Bureau of Reclamation now is preparing to add sideboards to the Friant-Kern canal to restore it to rated capacity, as a result of land subsidence caused by pumping overdrafts."

While these shortages exist, he added, both state and federal project users are threatened by the recent Delta decision of the state water rights board with a partial loss of supplemental water presently available.

He also referred to a filing by the U.S. government in the federal register which would pre-empt authorization of many water development and flood control projects from Congress, and would boost the economic criteria for building them to almost prohibitive levels. Sorensen said he hopes the state of California will act to oppose the new criteria, on which hearings will be held in Washington March 20 through 21.

He added that past actions of the state administration have not been conducive to meeting water needs of the San Joaquin valley.

Citing continuing new needs for water, Sorensen said demands of the proposed nuclear power plant of the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power, in eastern Tulare county, would draw off 75,000 to 100,000 acre feet of water per year.

On drainage, he said, studies indicate new techniques in water re-use will mean a gradual decline in volume of poor quality water flowing from the valley into the Delta.

Commercial honey production in the United States totaled 206,326,000 pounds in 1971.

California bees produced 19,647,000 pounds of honey in 1971, compared to 15,652,000 pounds the previous year.

REELECTED AS officers of the Porterville Fair board at an organization meeting Monday night were A.K. "Babe" Hodgson, chairman, seated; and, from left: Bill Rodgers, vice chairman; Mel Carter, treasurer; and Bob Board, secretary. Hodgson, one of the organizers of the Porterville Fair back in 1947, and board chairman ever since, said, "I'll serve as chairman for one more fair, then, that's it. Twenty-five years is enough." Directors whose terms expired this year were returned to the board - Guido Lombardi, Bob Bennett, Chet Gilbert, Bob Dusek, George Carter, Dan Mahnke, Mel Carter and Board.

Searcy was also authorized by the fair board to check into a new feature for the fair - a Saturday parade that would be under the direction of Porterville Jaycees.

In other business, fair directors accepted the resignation from the board of Richard Owen, beef division chairman. Directors expect to name his successor at the February board meeting.

Directors accepted recommendations from the fair's livestock committee that Jim Martinez, a former director, head up the beef division and that Richard Harward head the sheep division.

Other business discussion centered around insurance policies, publication of the fair's premium book, livestock exhibitors' banquet, new trophies, scheduling of fair facilities use, new outdoor stage, carnival, and concessions policy.

In a preliminary financial statement, prepared by Mel Carter, profit from the 1971 fair was shown as nearly $4,000, not including commission on the livestock sale, a figure that has not yet been completely checked out.

A breakdown on 1971 receipts shows: Gate, $10,539; exhibit space rentals, $4,225; program advertising, $1,815; concessions, $3,571; awards, $270; donations, $84; miscellaneous, $335; banquet, $758; entry fees, $322 for a total of $21,921.

Disbursements were: Labor, $2,329; utilities, $266; capital outlay, $657; maintenance & repair, $1,949; insurance, $2,054; professional entertainment, $3,088; printing, $1,186; supplies, $683; special police, $1,035; publicity & advertising, $632; awards, $182; miscellaneous, $623; services, $1,039; meals & lodging for judges, $174; commission on advertising and exhibit space sales, $1,218; and banquet, $813, for a total of $17,934.

Directors attending the Monday night meeting were: Hodgson, Gilbert, Board, Mahnke, Rodgers, Lombardi, Bennett, Dusek, Mel Carter, and Joe Faure Jr., along with Calvin Weisenberger, facilities superintendent.

California, Riverside, and Dr. Lowell Lewis, associate dean for research at Riverside. Robert Baker, Citrus Men's club president, was replaced for the coming year by Duane Hickerson of Ivanhoe. (Farm Tribune photos)

HICKERSON REPLACES ROBERT BAKER AS CITRUS MEN'S CLUB PRESIDENT

EXETER — Election of new officers and a panel discussion on citrus research by University of California, Riverside Administrators Dr. W.M. Dugger, dean of the College of Biological and Agricultural Sciences and Dr. Lowell Lewis, associate dean for research, highlighted a meeting in Exeter Friday of the Citrus Men's club.

Elected to the board were: Duane Hickerson of Ivanhoe, president; Milton Burtner of Porterville, vice president; Jim Hurley of Lindsay, secretary-treasurer; and Clarence Ward, Lemon Cove, director.

Tulare County Farm Advisor John Pehrson conducted the panel discussion, centered around administrative structure of the University at Riverside, and research activity at the university.

Dr. Dugger explained that the university's main administrative office is located at the Berkeley campus, and that administrative structuring at Riverside was formed in 1968.

"The quality of instruction has improved greatly since these steps were taken," said Dr. Dugger, "and although we don't have a complete curriculum, our weaknesses are covered at the Davis campus."

At Riverside, he said, researchers are concerned with the raising of plants while Davis scientists are concerned with the animal sciences. Priorities for the future at Riverside, he said, include development and conservation of the land, water, and air resources in the state.

Dr. Lewis told growers that state funding for research in 1972 will probably remain constant, but urged them not to "let down" in asking for continued high quality intensive research. The university last year received $200,000 for 12 research projects, he said, $50,000 more than in previous years.

Advertising and sales accounts for 28 cents per box of oranges in this expenditure, said Dr. Lewis, while only one-half cent per box is spent on actual research.

"We must have continued industry support in order to survive," he said.

Four research areas which will receive top priority in the future are, he said: continued use of the priorities board in determining areas of research concentration; parasitic insect rearing for both state and national use; continued study to solve citrus root stock disease; and expansion of the university's entomology department into bio-chemical control of insects.

Last year, he said, much of the state funding went for pest management research, root stock studies, plant pathology, citrus variety improvement, and rind quality problems.

Citrus Industry History Seminar To Be Presented

PORTERVILLE — "History of the Citrus Industry" will be the subject of the Tulare County and Local History seminar, set for Monday, February 7 at 7:00 p.m. in the Porterville high school cafeteria.

Topics to be covered in this adult school class will include the coming of the orange to America, California, and the local area; a slide presentation on early history of the local citrus industry; and talks by long-time citrus men of the area - Bill Baird, Howard Michaelis, Jack Emery, and Carl Brown.

Class instructor is Rod Homer. The seminars are open to the general public.

WILDLIFE PROGRAMS RECEIVE $2.2 MILLION

SACRAMENTO — California has received more than $2.2 million in federal aid for fish and wildlife restoration and hunter safety programs during 1971 according to Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton. Included in the total - part of a national distribution of nearly $48 million - were $671,750 for sport fish restoration, $1,490,580 for wildlife restoration, and $108,303 for hunter safety.

Digging of carrots is proceeding at a normal pace in the desert valleys.

and sundry that there will be no Jackass Mail in 1972, that he will leave town leading the Hammond Mail when he sees fit to do so, and that he will allow ex-wagonmasters to follow the Hammond Mail on foot, pushing new brooms, adding, "When Hammond says that's the way it is, Hammond means that's the way it is."

Meanwhile, a deputy U.S. marshal, riding in from Springville, reported finding a wagon hidden in a willow thicket along the Tule river.

He said the wagon resembles Doc Small's medicine show wagon, reported stolen two weeks ago, but said he could not make a case since this wagon has a sign on it in fresh paint, Doc Hammond's Medicine Show.

added that tickets will be available at the door, but in order to avoid having to turn anyone away, persons should buy their tickets in advance at the chamber office.

Entertainment will be provided by Porterville high school's Fabulous Studio band, Porterville college Chamber Singers, Monache Ensemble, and Porterville high school Madrigal Singers.

Awards presentations will be made by past Chamber President Allan Weaver; a representative of Help Line, Organization of the Year for 1970; Judi Gibbons, Woman of the Year for 1970; and Richard Spencer, O.D., Man of the Year for 1970.

Master of ceremonies will be Ray Holloway. Reverend William A. Harrison of the First Baptist church will give the invocation.

Chamber board members this week accepted an offer from the Porterville Elks lodge to award a $25 savings bond to the Young Man and Young Woman of the Year on an annual basis.

In addition to the Elk's savings bond awards, Exalted Ruler Dennis Strange told chamber directors that a dance at the Elk's lodge, corner of Main and Morton, is planned for Saturday evening following the banquet festivities. Strange stated that the general public is invited to attend this annual event.

"All other aspects of the banquet are going smoothly," Banquet Committee Chairman Doug Webb reported, "and we hope everyone will join us this year in the 'Salute to the Youth of Porterville.'"

PORTERVILLE LIONS club members are supervising reconstruction of the weather-worn "Welcome To Porterville" sign, located at the corner of Main and Henderson, as a community service project. Chamber of Commerce Manager Larry Smith, right, displays service club signs which will be returned when repairs are completed. Smith suggested that now would be an opportune time for members of each of the clubs represented to pick up their signs at the chamber office for re-painting if necessary. Clubs represented include: Noon Lions; Porterville Masonic Lodge

DRUNK DRIVERS ARE TARGET FOR KETCHUM 1972 LEGISLATIVE STUDY

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman Bill Ketchum recently disclosed that the major thrust of his 1972 legislative package will concern itself with what he termed "California's surprisingly ineffective laws that deal with a number one public menace, the drunk driver."

"A drunk driver can be the cause of a dozen highway deaths in one accident, and be back on the road in a very short time to kill again," Ketchum said. "I think this is atrocious."

Ketchum indicated that he is researching the subject at present in hopes of developing a package of laws aimed at getting the drunk driver off the road and keeping him off. Existing laws in the other 49 states will be studied, as will those of the European nations of Sweden and Denmark, two countries where the drunk driver has been dealt with effectively.

"28,000 innocent people died at the hands of drunk drivers in the United States last year. It is past time we stopped playing games with this problem and recognize the drunk driver for what he is: a first class, uninhibited killer," he stated. "My upcoming legislation will hopefully go a long way towards ending the slaughter at the hands of the careless party drinker."

Citrus Committee Study Focuses On Interstate Shipping

SHERMAN OAKS — Steps were taken last week at a meeting in Sherman Oaks of the California-Arizona citrus industry's Committee on Citrus Additives and Pesticides, Inc. to insure that all citrus shipped from the two states is healthful.

The committee session focused on the field test plot projects, by-products tests, postharvest chemicals test projects, and government liaison activity. Testing is conducted throughout the year to determine maximum pesticide residues at the time of marketing on four varieties of fresh citrus - navels, valencias, lemons, and grapefruit.

Testing is also done to determine residues in juice, oil, and dried pulp derived from the four varieties.
